Four years pass . . . turning into forty more . . . we entered halls filled with giants . . . we leave them filled with dwarfs.

Four years have taught us much . . . about people . . . about life . . . about ourselves . . . changing the mods into time . . . and the time into mods . . . discovering the speed bump sign a second too late . . . beating the bell to Homeroom . . . very rarely losing . . . cheating in Gym exercises . . . facing the Yearbook rush . . . sizing up the new teachers . . . letting the old ones know that you have them figured out . . . buzzing through college catalogs . . . deciding your future . . . checking and rechecking the Honor Roll to make sure that they didn't accidentally leave your name off . . . racing down the halls . . . sneaking into your locker during a mod . . . coming up with entirely different cheers at the games . . . secretly comparing notes on a friend's girl . . . facing the fourth quarter hassle . . . awaiting the final day . . . Commencement . . . forging a new path . . . beating the last minute rush of the times . . . and loving every minute of the past four years.

All right, lookit . . . how many pounds of chalk dust must we have breathed? . . . to convert to grams multiply by 4.55×10^2 , you see . . . sig figs . . . Is she a Miss or a Ms? . . . Edith who? . . . doing your homework in the halls between study halls . . . the same three dots you'll see in every yearbook here . . . Awright, you turkeys, take an extra five laps! . . . that is, if you will . . . Gentlemen, I want order! . . . This isn't beer, it's truth serum . . . Good morning, schtudents . . . slides of Uganda . . . B is for bead balances, barium bromide, broken beakers, and Barbara Bruer-Sipple . . . you see . . . Today's study hall schedule is to be read upside-down . . . we look ahead to our senior year, when we can look ahead to college . . . Gentlemen, I don't like giving out detentions . . . I'm not up here flapping my gums for nothing . . . Aim for the target, and not the bull . . . Let's cut out this Mickey Mouse stuff, if you will . . . Louis Brandeis . . . salutary neglect . . . more slides of Uganda . . . Hey! I saw that toothpick first . . . So this is, I think, what is to be considered as far as this is concerned, you see . . . You, shut up! . . . Yes, I'm positive that's a teacher . . . I am deeply and sincerely in love with that girl . . . What do you men want most in the world? Clean tables, right? . . . He's kidding, isn't he? . . . That group wanted to discover this area right up here . . . we got assignments and detentions . . . we got happy, we got sad, we got rowdy, we got one-way tickets to Hyattsville . . . we got our dreams destroyed, and forgot about it as the next term paper drew near . . . In terms of, like, you know, I mean, the nuns always, you know, told us, like, you always gotta go to Sunday Mass, and, like, you know, if you didn't, you know, go it was, you know, like a mortal sin, you know? . . . that is, if you will . . . day 5 liturgies . . . the arrival of class rings . . . sending class rings back to be fixed . . . old structures changing . . . plus ca chane, plus c'est la même chose . . . aber die Gedanken sind frei . . . y gota a gota el mar se apoca . . . and somehow, despite all this, education took place, and we learned, and grew, and moved on.

STUDENT

LIFE

Love is but a song we sing,
and fear's the way we die . . .
You can make the mountains ring or make the angels cry . . .
Know the dove is on the wing and you need not know why . . .
C'mon people now—smile on your brother
Everybody get together
Try and love one another right now . . .

SPORTS

The athlete strives for excellence, yet he cannot attain it alone.

Aid, encouragement, and instruction all motivate him to higher achievement.

The athlete who competes alone, wins alone, and loses alone . . .

Individuals seek victory for themselves; a team seeks victory for all.

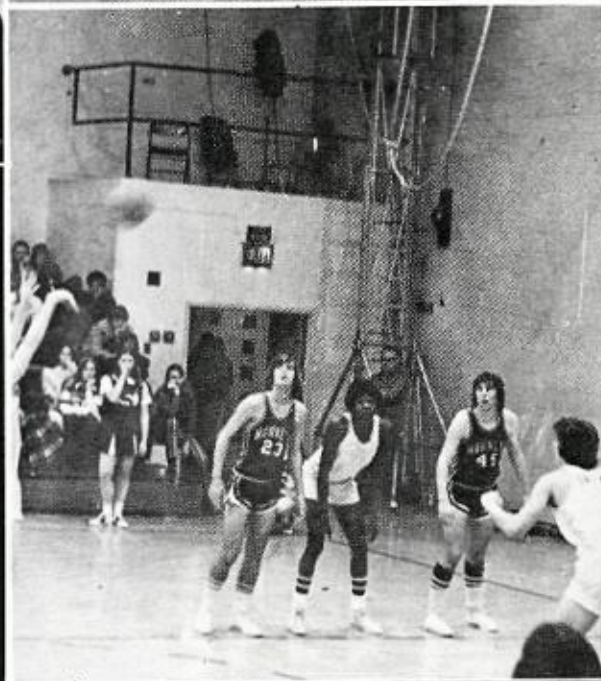

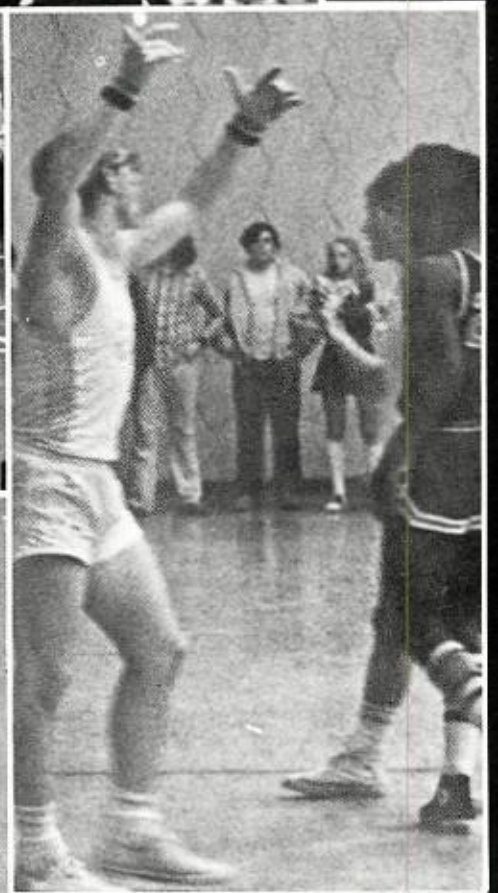

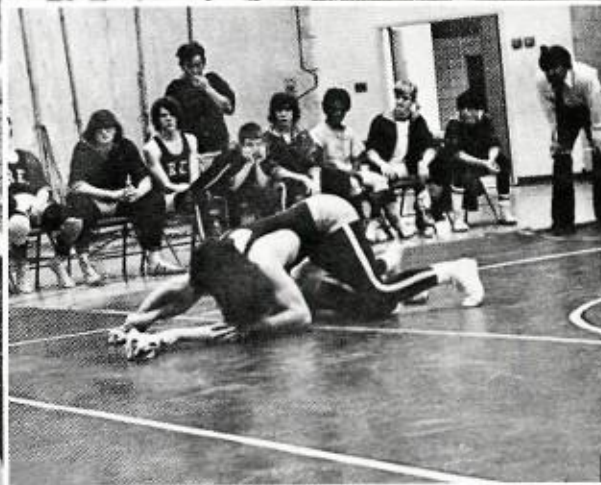

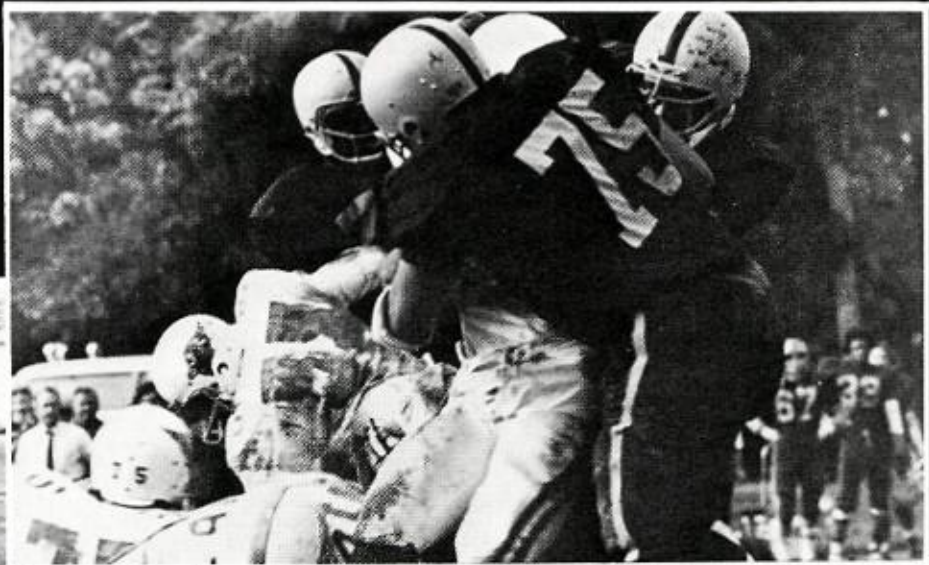

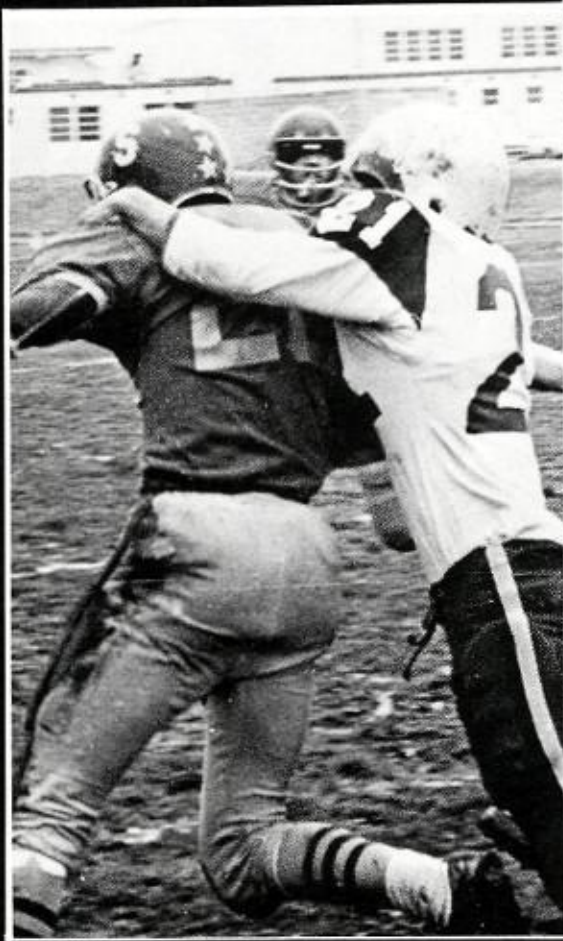

Winning is a more treasured prize when many unite themselves to attain it . . .

The athlete is justifiably proud of his own ability, but he may be prouder yet when he joins that ability with the talents of others.

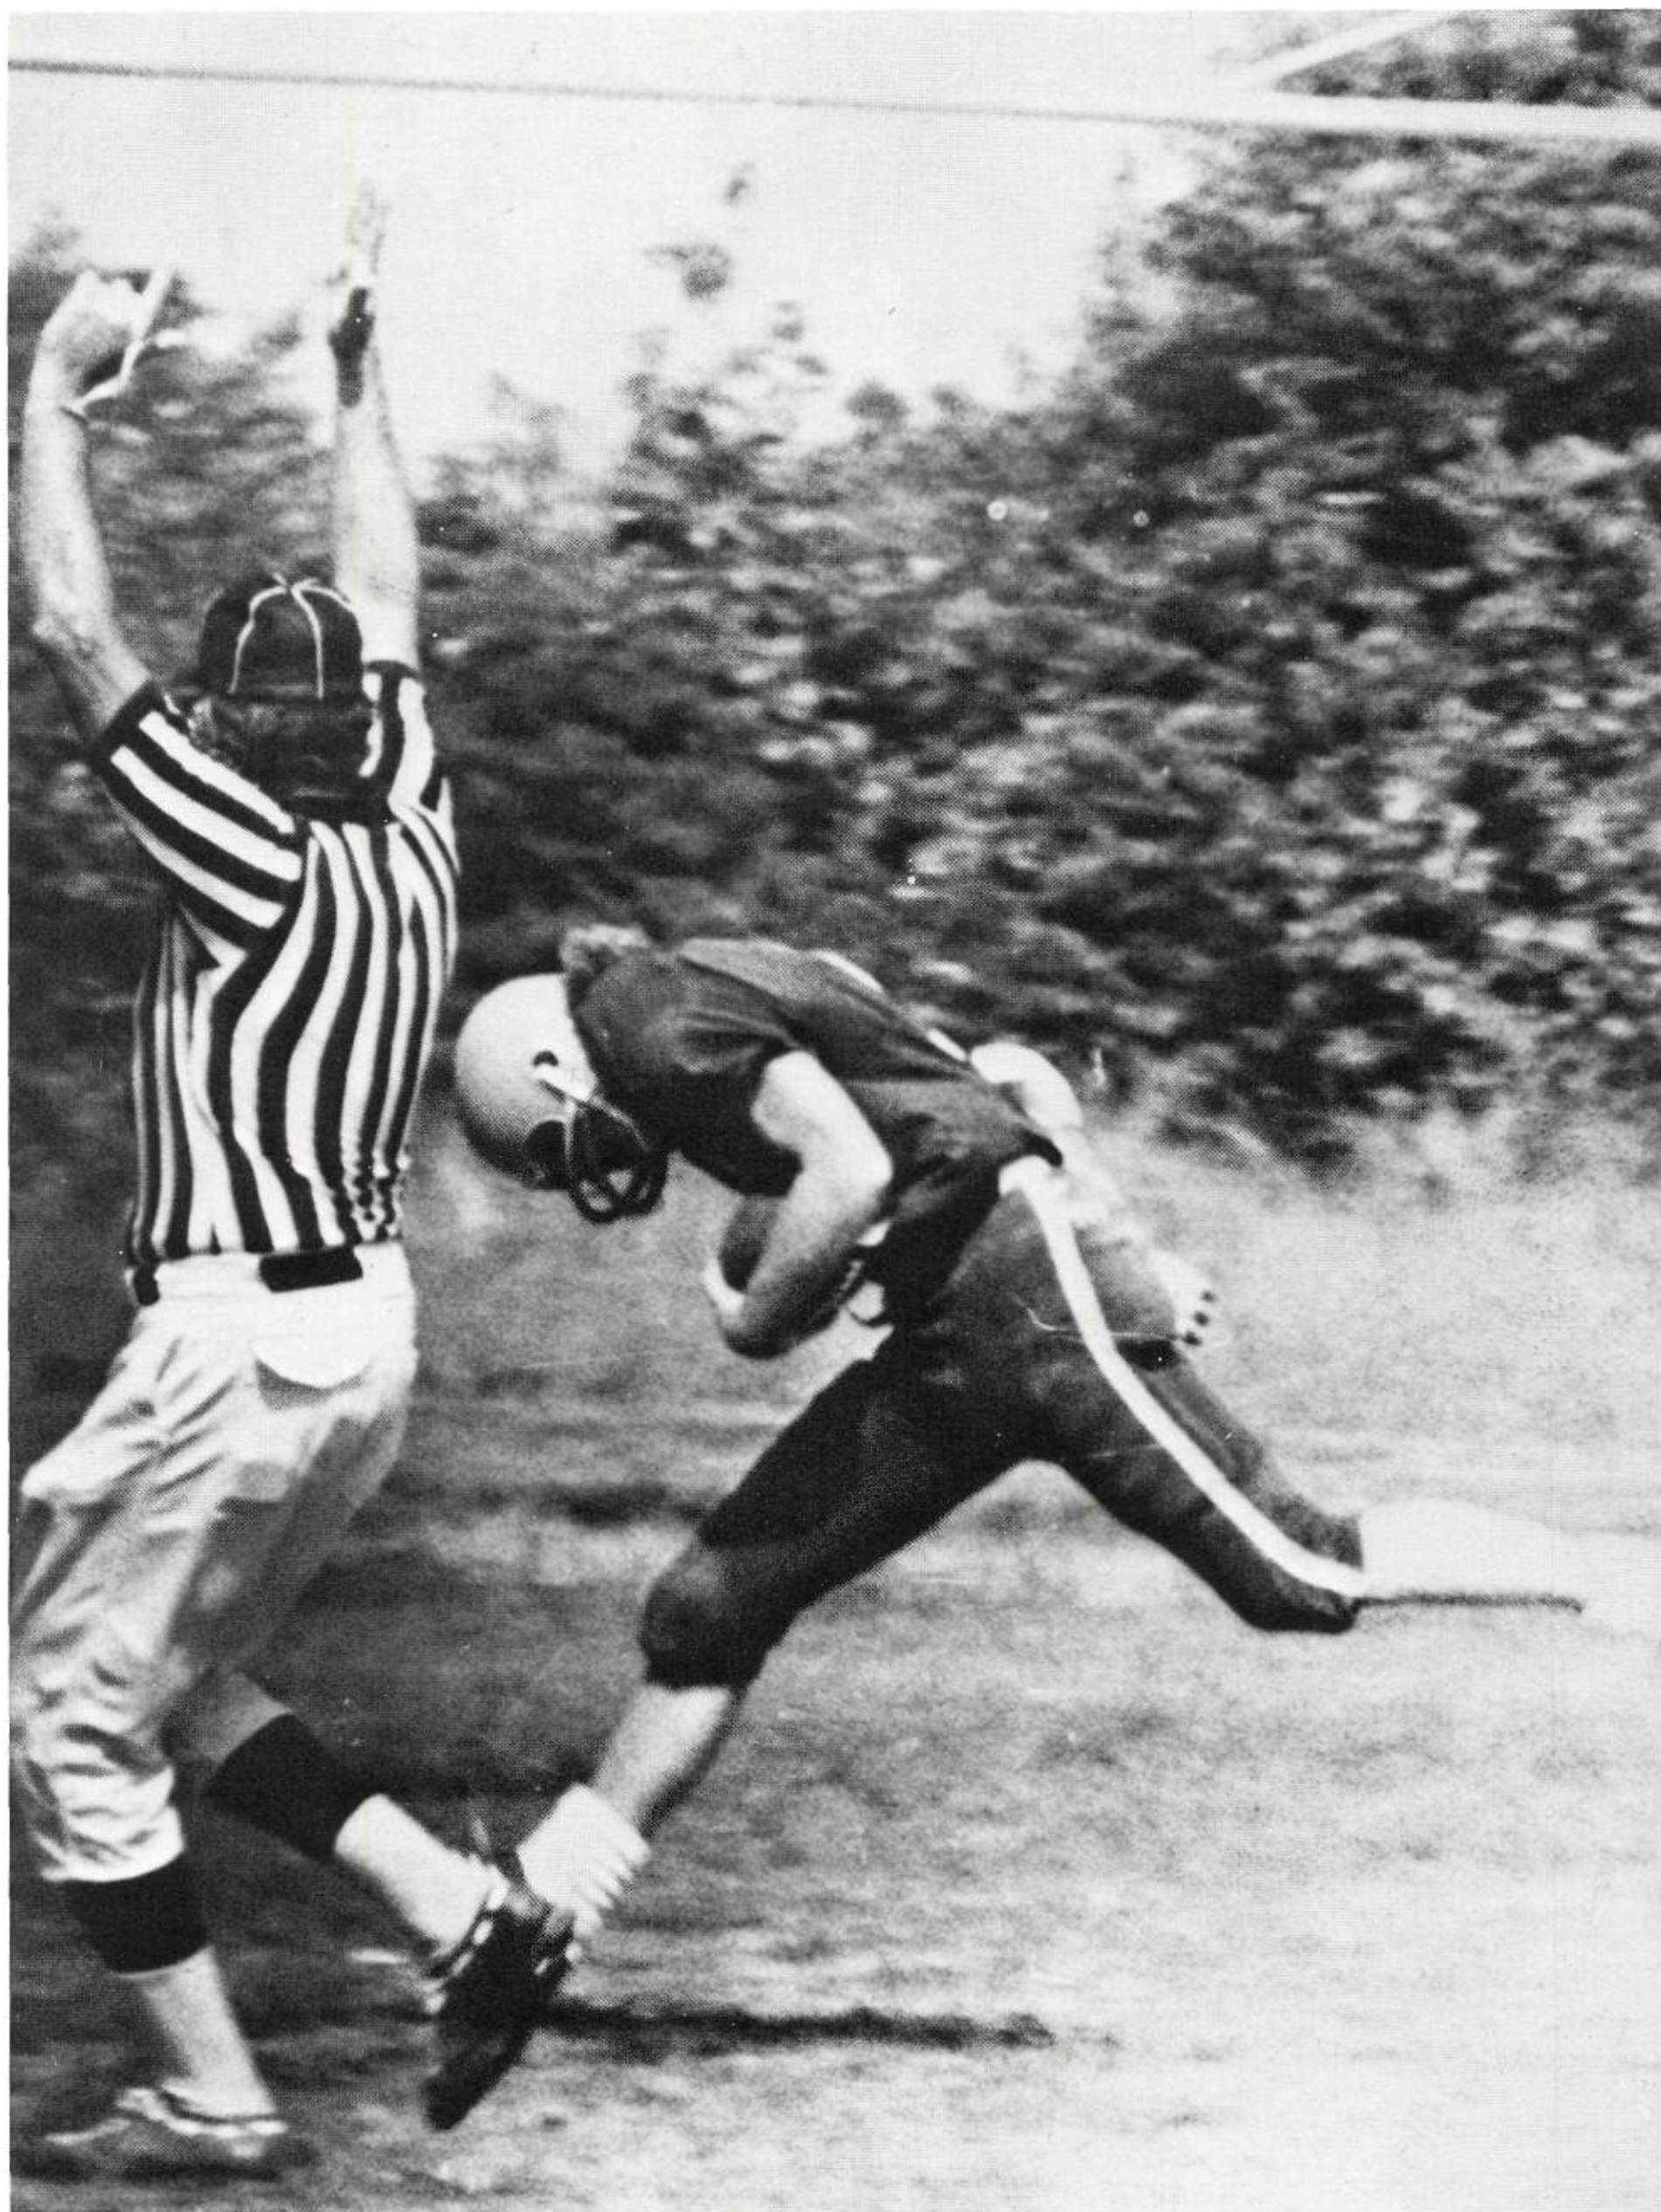

Individuals allied into one unit become strength personified . . .

Freindship becomes stronger through the sharing of defeat, of victory, and of accomplishment . . .

All alone.

The most consistent team in Mc history, the cross-country team, once again showed its poise and character in compiling another fine season. With the help of a brilliant coach, and a top flight No. 1 man, the team rose from mid-season obscurity to eventually winning the Md. State Catholic Championship, and finishing 2nd and 3rd in the WMAC Championship and School Boy Championship, respectively.

ODE TO A YEARBOOK

Once upon a time in the land of hushabye, around about the wondrous days of yore, there was a yearbook; and this yearbook had a staff, bound up with chains and locked with locks, headed by an editor—not really a boy—but a man; and they called him John.

Now this editor was good, like all editor's should, around about the wondrous days of yore. And in this land of hushabye there was a god who was known as the "Nebraska Red Head", who was feared by all in the land. But god spoke to John—saying "John, who I am well pleased with, you shall be made Leader of the people called YEARBOOK. And you shall have dominion over them".

*But, then along came SAM, tall, strong SAM, cool talkin' SAM, smooth walkin' SAM, And the "Red Haired One" said to SAM "Sam, you shall be made second only to John in the land"—and SAM left—all in those wondrous days of yore.

And the days dragged into months—because a camera was thrown into the yearbook machinery, and every one remained calm and the "Nebraska Red Head" said "Sue the ---".—And they weren't.

Meanwhile, back at the YB ranch, Dave (the slave), Mike (the hick) and Dave (the rave) were waiting for night fall, so they could all get "stoned again" ergo: to work on Mustang '73. And John said "Work, you rascals" but they would not—And after work was finished they rested—saying "We've worked Hushabye work—We've drunk Hushabye wine—We've eaten Hushabye (mac) food. It's been a good Hushaby day". And John said "It is good" and The Head said "It is good" and all of the people YEARBOOK waited for Godot saying—"Do you walk to McNamara or take your Lunch"?

Joe Casta

 Editors Note: Sam only left in body—his displaced mind wandered in and out of meetings aimlessly, for years afterward.*

John Durkin shows the strain of the times, as Steve offers a prayer.

EDITOR'S NOTES

EVERY school publishes a yearbook which reflects the important events and occurrences that took place within that school year. The staff of Mustang '73 had three specific objectives:

- (1) To produce a yearbook that would set a precedent for future Mustang publications.
- (2) To depict the resurgence of the "McNamara Spirit".
- (3) To arrange for the photographing and publication for next year's production.

OVERCOMING many initial enigma's, the staff thrusted an overwhelming amount of hours into the production. This publication is a polished chronicle of the school year activities. We hope that we have instilled a growing enthusiasm for the continuation of a superior annual and that ensuing yearbooks will improve, as the Spirit of McNamara improves. We did achieve our goals.

ONE man who deserves much credit and praise is Mr. Gerald Carrig. He incurred no obligation to moderate this yearbook; yet, despite the lack of glamour involved in this tedious project, found time to do so. He struggled along with the staff on endless nights, sacrificing his time for the completion of the yearbook. With Mr. Carrig's assistance, we accomplished this feat.

HOPEFULLY, this is symbolic of a new cycle at McNamara; one that excludes friction and incorporates cooperation.

THE Mustang staff did more than its share to put the yearbook back on its feet. Now it will be the responsibility of the class of 1974 and those after it, to continue to build upon this firm foundation.

YOU have everything to gain.
